

Exploring the Future of Centers for Teaching and Learning in Higher Education

Friday, June 7, 2024 | 9 a.m.-3:30 p.m. ET

Presented by Strategic Ohio Council for Higher Education
 Ohio University Heritage College of Osteopathic Medicine, Dublin
 Medical Education Building 2

Event Program

Time	Session	Location
9-9:30 a.m.	Check-in and continental breakfast Breakfast courtesy of Ohio University's Center for Teaching, Learning, and Assessment	MEB2 – Room 240
9:30-9:45 a.m.	Welcome and Introductions Melinda Rhodes-DiSalvo, Executive Director, Center for Teaching, Learning and Assessment, Ohio University State of the State's Centers for Teaching and Learning Meghan Raehll, Assistant Dean, Center for Teaching Excellence, Franklin University	Rm 240
9:45-10:30 a.m.	Main Session: The Future of CTLs Kay Halasek, Inaugural Director, Drake Institute for Teaching and Learning, and Professor of English, Ohio State University	Rm 240
10:30-10:50 a.m.	Table Discussion & Break	Rm 240
10:50-11:50 a.m.	The Work of CTLs: Programs and Portfolios Panelists: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Chelsea Chandler, Director, Center for Faculty Excellence, Bowling Green State University • Terry Filicko, Chair of the Ohio Faculty Senate of Community and Technical Colleges and Co-chair of the Faculty Congress of Ohio • Katie Hartman, Vice Provost for Faculty Development, Ohio University • Bryan Smith, Associate Vice Provost/Undergraduate Affairs, University of Cincinnati 	Rm 240
11:50 a.m.-12 p.m.	Table Discussion	Rm 240
12-1 p.m.	Lunch & Networking Time	Rm 240
1-3:15 p.m.	Track 1 – Launching a Center for Teaching and Learning Track 2 – Sustaining and Evolving a Center for Teaching and Learning	Track 1 – TBD Track 2 – TBD
3:15-3:30 p.m.	Closing Remarks Bryan Smith, University of Cincinnati	Rm 240